April 16-18, 2013

Renaissance Mumbai Convention Centre Hotel, Powai, Mumbai

Theme

Looking Beyond Impact: Seeking Transformational Change

Despite a nascent history, for-profit social enterprises and impact investors have cornered the global imagination. The promise of impact investing has led to talent and capital being mobilized towards social enterprises; to form an industry that desires to make the world a better place. In this fifth year of the Summit, we decided to take stock of where the industry is headed and seek some honest answers.

As we bring the focus back on changing the lives of every single individual at the base of the economic pyramid, let us pause to ask ourselves if we are on the right path and if we are adopting the right approaches. Are we using the levers of talent and capital available to us at the right places?

Across the Global South, the impact investing industry has matured. With over a decade of intense experimentation, several successes and some failures, India has clearly emerged as a frontrunner in this space. But can the growing impact investing industry around the world especially in other emerging economies learn from India?

At the Summit we will raise these issues, create discourses and share experiences to determine what has worked to create transformational change and what course correction is needed before our community dedicates the next decade to scaling a collective hypothesis.
